

Arik Gorban is a photographer and photography instructor who focuses on the creative aspects of the photographic art form.

He has over 35 years experience in the complete photographic process, including analog photography, darkroom work, and extensive digital imaging. His digital imaging experience includes over 20 years of using Photoshop and other digital imaging applications.

He frequently judges photo contests, presents on photography, and exhibits his fine art photography. He also photographs events and conducts photography workshops with focus on the creative aspects of photography. Arik's street photography workshops are conducted in New York City and Philadelphia. He was the curator of the Small Town in Black and White Photography exhibit at the Hamilton Street Gallery in Bound Brook, NJ and a judge for multiple juried exhibits throughout the state.

Arik Gorban is the recipient of numerous awards in photo contests and his work has been published in the US and internationally.

Website: www.agphotoworks.com